

NEW YORK STATE $100 INSULIN MAXIMUM

In 2020, a bill was signed into law by the Governor that included a provision which limits cost sharing for members in relation to eligible insulin medications. Specifically, members cannot pay more than $100 out-of-pocket for a 30-day supply of a covered prescription insulin drug.

The state mandate applies to all out-of-pocket expenses, including copayments, deductibles, and coinsurance*.

To better understand how the mandate works, here are two real-life scenarios:

A member's deductible is $5,000, and the cost of a 30-day supply of their insulin medication is $1,000. If they fill a 30-day insulin prescription, they will only be required to pay $100, and that $100 would go toward their deductible. If they fill a 90-day insulin prescription, they will only have to pay $300, and that $300 will apply to their deductible.

A member's coinsurance is 20%, and the cost of a 30-day supply of their insulin medication is $1,000. Even though 20% of the prescription cost is $200, the member will only pay $100.

Health Plans Impacted

The NYS insulin maximum mandate DOES apply to:

- All insured individuals, small and large commercial groups including high deductible health plan (HDHP) products with health savings accounts (HSAs) and insured minimum premium plans
- Direct pay qualified health plans
- Article 47 plans
- Essential Plan
- Healthy NY
- Student health insurance
- Child Health Plus

The NYS insulin maximum mandate DOES NOT apply to:

- All self-funded groups (except Article 47)
- Medicare Advantage and supplement plans
- Health and Recovery Plan (HARP)
